

David Kirkling

David Kirkling is running for UDWI REMC's District 1 Board of Director's seat. He currently resides in Clay City, where he graduated from high school. He attended Indiana State University before completing his Doctorate of Chiropractic degree at Logan College of Chiropractic. He and his wife, Monika, have been married for 47 years and enjoy their friendly, rural community with their children and grandchildren.

After retiring from his 40-year career as a Chiropractic Physician, David became the owner of Glory Days Restaurant and Pub in Clay City. His love of collecting antiques and memorabilia pertaining to area businesses and sports led him to opening the restaurant. He enjoys the opportunity to meet new people every day and talk about the 'good ole days'.

In his community, David is a member of the Clay City High School Sports Boosters and previously sat on the Rein Center Coalition Committee. His work helped raise funds for local sports teams and more recently, assisted in the process of building a new community center in the Clay City park.

If elected, David looks forward to working with UDWI's other board members and communicating with its members and the general public about the functions and operations of the cooperative. He believes one of UDWI's greatest strengths is its quick and efficient response to power outages, and that his open mind toward construction improvements will be in the best interests of the cooperative's membership.
