

Todd Carpenter

Director Todd Carpenter has lived in the Bloomington area for 25 years. He and his wife, Juli, have two children.

A graduate of L&M High School, he achieved a concentration in accounting from the IU Kelley School of Business. Carpenter is licensed as a certified public accountant by the state of Indiana and has 30 years of experience in budgeting, taxation, company management, and planning. For 20 years, Carpenter has owned his own public accounting business and offered services to the Bloomington area. He is passionate about assisting clients in understanding the business model to help them make informed decisions.

Carpenter has served on the UDWI REMC Board of Directors since 2018. During his time as director, he has served as UDWI's representative to the Hoosier Energy Board of Directors. His background has allowed him to help UDWI make sound financial and business decisions on how the co-op can best control its costs and benefit members. Carpenter enjoys serving UDWI and looks forward to finding new ways to strengthen the cooperative while helping to ensure a safe and reliable power system for the members and linemen.
